26. JUSTIFICATION OF REQUEST

During the Project Assessment phase, a DDI was evaluated but was not recommended as the preferred concept. The frontage road operation under a DDI configuration was found to be a critical issue and therefore it was dropped from consideration.

The selected consultant for design proposed a modified DDI that addressed the frontage road operation. The consultant's original scope of work was to take the project from existing Stage II Partial Cloverleaf design and produce Final Plans, Specifications and Estimate based on the Parclo design. The consultant's original scope for the DDI only provided high level information (approximately 5pct level) on the DDI for the Value Analysis Study. The VA Study recommended the proposed DDI concept for the project due to its increased capacity, increased Level of Service, simplified construction, and for being better accommodating for future I-17 widening. Following a public meeting and after vetting with the stakeholders the possible configurations for the interchange, the Department and MAG selected the DDI as the configuration for the final design. Changing the TI to a DDI configuration required the designer to do rework in order to submit Stage II (30pct). This effort was not anticipated and therefore not included in the original cost estimate. The Public Outreach component to educate stakeholders on a DDI configuration and operation was also not included in the original budget for the project. A national DDI expert was brought in to educate stakeholders and the public.

Additional effort as a result of changing to the DDI configuration included additional Geotechnical Exploration to complete the DDI Bridge Structure Foundation Design, Environmental (air quality analysis and associated traffic modeling including DDI configuration), revised Landscape Design, and a revision to the Thermal Detection System. The original stage II documents for the Pinnacle Peak TI included design exceptions. The design consultant proposed eliminating design exceptions such as superelevation and sight distance. Concurrently, the stakeholders recommended eliminating retaining walls. While eliminating the design exceptions did require the realignment of the existing ramps and the elimination of retaining walls resulted in a significant increase in earthwork, there was an overall savings due to the retaining walls being eliminated. Also, the initial scope of work included just modifying portions of the existing drainage system. To address overtopping from a 100 year event, a new drainage system was added to the project instead of modifying the existing.

26. JUSTIFICATION OF REQUEST

Request to fund the FY2018 JPA agreement.

FY 2017 saw the USGS Partnership heavily focused on assigned project field work and design life cycle tools development. A suite of available technology options has now been developed and has culminated in a standardized format in which to mobilize USGS; and a data modeling design services menu for project management. USGS has now participated to varying degrees in 54 projects - annual average is 15 per year or one a month. The Partnership has developed a very cost effective process for enhancing our design and environmental considerations at our priority 5-yr program water crossing sites that pose compelling scientific/engineering links. All JPA identified performance measures have been met or exceeded to date.

26. JUSTIFICATION OF REQUEST

The completed geotechnical investigation and initial report have determined that the foundation type has to be changed to spread footings in lieu of the preliminary concept of drilled shafts/rock sockets. As a result of this modification, the consultant and Bridge Group initiated discussions of re-evaluating the bridge configuration from a 3-span bridge to a single span bridge. Based on an alternative analysis, the team agreed to revise the bridge design to a single-span bridge with full height abutments on spread footings. Additional funds are needed for the design consultant to re-design the bridge, for consultant review and for staff support.
